

NORMA, GLORIA, MAY McEVOY, AGNES AYERES, BOOKED FOR LOCAL THEATRE NEXT WEEK

Norma Talmadge in "The Secret of the Storm Country" is announced as the attraction at the Torrance theatre August 4.

The photoplay is from the famous novel of the same name by Grace Miller White, introducing the star in the role of "Tess," which has always been considered the best part Miss Talmadge has ever played before the motion picture camera.

In leading support opposite Miss Talmadge appears Niles Welch, the young leading man whose recent performance in support of Elaine Hammerstein has won him such great popular favor. Among others in the cast are J. Herbert Frank Ethel Grey Terry, and Edwin D Denison.

Agnes Ayres Coming

A new Paramount picture, "Racing Hearts," starring Agnes Ayres will open at the Torrance theatre on August 5 for a two-day run. It is a delightful automobile racing picture, full of pep and thrills. The supporting cast includes Richard Dix, leading man; Theodor Roberts, Robert Cain, Warren Rogers, and J. Farrell MacDonald. It is by far the best motion picture seen in Torrance in many months.

Last Taylor Film

The last picture made by the late William D. Taylor, the Paramount director who was the victim of a mysterious assassination in Hollywood, was "The Top of New York," a Paramount picture starring May McAvoy. It is said that Mr. Taylor's directorial art never was more conspicuously displayed in a picture production than in this delightful story of tenement and department store life in a great city. Miss McAvoy has the role of a New York tenement girl who clerks in the toy section of a huge department store and during the Christmas rush is featured as an animated doll at the toy counter to attract customers and amuse the children. The tragic home life of the girl, in decided contrast to her gay trappings and light-hearted manner as the doll, makes a story full of colorful scenes and gripping intensity.

"The Top of New York," which will be shown at the Torrance theatre August 7 and 8, was written by Sonya Levien, Walter McGrath is leading man and heads an unusually clever supporting cast of players.

Oh, My! Gloria!

Three thousand ermines were required to make a new gown for Gloria Swanson. Only the tails of the animals were used in this new style creation, which is an entirely original idea and a unique innovation in dress.

The gown is worn by Miss Swanson in the last sequence of her new starring vehicle, "My American Wife," a Sam Wood production for Paramount, which comes to the Torrance theatre August 9 and 10.

Each ermine tail on this new evening gown is strung on seed pearls and hung on orchid net to keep the body lines slender. The pearl necklace, tied in a knot and falling to the floor, gives a long line for the front of the gown. The new hij girdle is the only line that breaks the dress from the shoulders to the floor, thus breaking the monotony of the ermine tails.

Miss Swanson was so delighted with the new creation that after finishing with it for her work in the picture she purchased it for her own personal wardrobe. The gown is valued at $25,000.

"WONDERS OF THE SEA"

A brilliant debut at the Rialto theatre, New York city, a second week by request at the Rivoli, and a return engagement for a week at the Rialto—this is the remarkable record of J. E. Williamson's under-sea picture, "Wonders of the Sea," an F. B. O. release. Seldom has a film of this nature captured the public in the way "Wonders of the Sea" has taken it, and the reason is not hard to find—it combines all the elements of entertainment.

A real octopus, in his deep sea home, is shown in this remarkable picture, which will be shown at the Torrance Theatre Saturday, Aug. 11. An encounter between an octopus and deep sea divers, photographed below the water, is a feature thrilling enough to satisfy the most jaded taste. Other deep sea phenomena, and the diving and swimming of Miss Lulu McGrath, the daring sea nymph, make this a production you can't afford to miss.

GOING TO ALASKA

Jack Phillips, head of the Buick agency here and in San Pedro leaves in a few days on a hunting trip in Alaska. Terry Hickman of San Pedro will accompany Mr Phillips.

MACCABEE NOTES

The regular business meeting of the review was held Friday evening, July 27. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed and the members presented Mrs. Curran with a beautiful tablecloth. The review plans to hold a food sale Saturday, Aug. 11.

BEACH PARTY

The Baptist Young People's Union will have a beach party August 6. All who want to join in the fun should get in touch with Marthe Kirkpatrick of Arlington street.

EASTERN STAR CARD PARTY

The Eastern Stars will hold a card party in Masonic temple Monday evening, Aug. 13. Everybody ought to attend just to disprove the "unlucky 13" superstition.

SLUMBER PARTY

A slumber party at the home of Mrs. G. G. Solomon was greatly enjoyed by Mary Roberts, Martha Kirkpatrick, Lily Gibson, Mabel Conkel, Irma Wheeler, and Mrs. George Woodside. The evening was pleasantly passed with games and the popping of corn. In the morning all enjoyed the delicious breakfast served by the hostess.

UNION TOOL TO MEET UP WITH SHELLS

Hot Game Is Looked for Next Sunday on Local Field

On Sunday, Aug. 5, the Union Tool baseball team will cross bats with the Shell Oil company in a game which can really be termed the crucial game of the second half of the season of the Oil Belt league.

The game will be played on the Union Tool home grounds, Union Tool baseball park. If you ever saw a game of baseball, talked it and liked it, you should not have to have an excuse for not being there after the game has been played. For those who can enjoy a real honest semi-pro game, with big league calibre in the personnel of both teams, and can part with 30 cents for seeing a game worth twice the amount, we promise you all that you can hope for.

The past eight games have demonstrated the kind of ball game given to the public, and at the same time the Union Tool team has not been acting as fooly-up. To date they have four victories and no defeats for their efforts, and every prospect of finishing the season with a perfect average, at which time they will play off with the Shell Oil company, winners of the first half of the season, for the ultimate prize. The last time these teams played, the Shell Oil team went back home a much wiser outfit to the tune of 1-3, and we have just about as warm a reception awaiting them on the above date.

In Smith and Haycox Manager Hammond has two first class moundsmen, and the hitting of the team cannot be questioned. Josh Clark also boasts two reliable pitchers in Pallas and Fairbanks, with a strong hitting team back of them. If the class of players on both sides is any indication, it should be some game. Again we say to you who are baseball fans, come out, whether you work at the Union Tool shop or not, and see a game such as you do not see every day.
